PRESS RELEASE

Narielle Living, President of Blue Fortune Enterprises, LLC, is pleased to announce she will be taking the reins as publisher of Fiddler Magazine, a quarterly publication distributed worldwide.

“Fiddler Magazine is such an important resource for fiddlers. The combination of interviews with amazing musicians, advice for players and creative arrangements of sheet music makes this publication a valuable resource in the fiddling community. We are so excited to continue to provide this to the subscribers. This publication has had such a positive impact on so many fiddlers, we want it to be available for years to come.”

In the Fall 2022 issue, Fiddler Magazine publisher Mary Larsen announced to readers that she was retiring. Narielle says that after much consideration and research, she felt the time was right for Blue Fortune to take the reins. “Obviously, I love reading. I started playing the fiddle a few years ago, and it has been such a joy to learn this truly difficult instrument,” she says with a laugh. “I think we were destined to be part of this magazine.”

Blue Fortune Enterprises, LLC, is a traditional publisher who publishes fiction and nonfiction. They are named after the perennial, Agastache Blue Fortune, and their four imprints reflect a “garden of books.” The imprints include:
